Furnace

Water-pan

Dry air is light—it lifts and carries dust. Dry air cracks your furniture, gives you a headache, shrivels your skin, parches your lungs.The water-pan in most furnaces is a nuisance. It has no serious business in the work of the furnace—it is merely placed there for effect, because a water-pan is a good thing.And a water-pan is an absolute necessity to your health and comfort, but it must be properly placed to radiate moisture evenly and uniformly throughout the house.The water-pan of the Sunshine Furnace is the most scientifically arranged water-pan in any furnace in the world.

It does the work a water-pan should, and does it well.

FOR CHAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

Monsieur's "Human History."

Some one has well said that but for the "Roman History" Monsieure would be a great man "taken on faith." That is probably true, but we have the "Human History," perhaps the most remarkable piece of German literature written in the middle of the nineteenth century. It is a wonderful testimony to the power of humanity over nature, that the most human work which Monsieure wrote should be the most popular. The "Human History" is the expression of the whole man, as it is the expression of the whole man's history. It will serve as a book of value as a spiritual document, as a picture of the hopes and ideals of Thiers' Germany. By a happy chance when the book was brought into the world it appeared in the naked simplicity of its narrative without the swaddling clothes of footnotes and queries. The clear cut style showed forth to its best advantage.The world of large to the statements as faith. Scholars write at liberty to test them in other books of Monsieure himself or of other men.—Professor Jesse B. Carter in Atlantic.

The Sanctities of Anti Cities.

Sanctities are everywhere. They are in their personal toilet and often bristle and wash themselves, a service for which they are admirably provided with natural implements. This habit is transferred to communal affairs. Also streets within the city bounds and the grave and external places and "communal" made leading into the foreign fields, as with artificial aids, are kept free from filth and obstructions that might attract filth. The constant washings and combings of baby seats by the nurse would satisfy the most fastidious material taste. One may not say that sanitation is an exact mathematical science, but it certainly is an art thoroughly practiced in every department of the domestic and brought to perfection as far as natural conditions allow.Every instant object takes part in this service. All aim unite to keep their civic precincts clean.—H. C. Mc-Cook in Harper's Magazine.

A Memorial Air.

Without disparagement of any of the other arts, to attain proficiency in which people think such long and valuable struggle, it may be truly said that the one art of smiling warms more hearts than all others together. Most children—in fact, all happy children—have an unconscious mastery of this beautiful art, but unfortunately they often lose it as they grow older. Children are the best judges of smiles in the world. "After life smile," said a child, speaking of a fair faced woman, "but she doesn't." A witness of the smile in a vain endeavor to look pleasant is not a smile. It deceives nobody.
A smile, to be worthy of the name,must come from the heart. It is the result of an honest willingness and readiness to be pleased with little as well as great things.

Antwerp With Wreaths.

There is no more picturesque group in quaint old Antwerp than the milk venders. For many a mile and a half the city has been served to the houses by these milk vendors and their even costumes have remained unchanged. The milk women wear a simple dress, almost completely covered with a voluminous white apron.
A quiet white headscarf completes the uniform. Scores of these picture-que milk venders are seen throughout Antwerp in the morning hours.
The milk is either carried in two large buckets, hung from a yoke running across the shoulders, or in little cars drawn by dogs.The most lofty lakes are found among the Himalaya mountains in Tibet. Their altitudes do not, however, seem to have been very accurately ascertained, for different authorities give widely different figures regarding them.
According to some, Lake Manasarwar, one of the sacred lakes of Tibet, is between 10,000 and 20,000 feet above the level of the sea, and it is said to be undoubtedly the loftiest in the world.Two other Tibetan lakes, those of Changone and Soroak, are said to be 17,000 and 15,400 feet in altitude respectively. For a long time it was supposed that Lake Titicaca, in South America, was the loftiest in the world.
It covers about 4,000 square miles, is 924 feet in its greatest depth and is 15,000 feet above the sea. In spite of inexactitude with regard to the measurements of the elevation of the Tibetan lakes they are no doubt considerably higher than this or any other.

The Oldest Herbaceous.

The oldest herbaceous in the world is in the Egyptologist museum at Cairo, and consists of an enormous collection of dried perianths of plants. These perianths of plants and flowers were taken from wreaths and garlands in the tombs with mummies, and where they were placed by the ancient Egyptians as death offerings, and from other places which were set in earthen vases on the floor of the sepulcher as the furniture of the last resting place of their beloved ones.Many of these floral remains are as well preserved that, after being treated with pure water, they can be handled like modern herbarium specimens. The olive tree, too, are preserved in a remarkable way. The most important matter in connection with these plants is their age. The remains of funeral flowers are found in tombs as far back as 3,000 years before Christ.The Spanish Japanese Father.
The Spanish character of the Japanese father may be gathered from two Go in the admirable address of family relations in Japan which he delivered before the Japan society. The Japanese child calls his father "Gompa" and his mother "Gompa," which mean "my father" and "my mother."
Those who classified the Japanese father as "the father of the world," think of the world—earthquake, thunder, conflagration and father.—London Times.

Macaroni Versus Versus.

Macaroni versus versus is written in more than one language or one language twisted to appear like another.
For example, a long poem on wine, dating from early in the sixteenth century, begins:The best tree, if it take talent,
Tale like good wine.In the vine tree, if you argument, Dolce forme pedore.Another example of the second kind mentioned is Don Quixote's initials Latin poem beginning "Molla abbi, hanc sentit" which in English reads,
"Molla's a beauty, but an acute eye."

A British Treasure.

In the jewel house of the Tower of London, the place where the crown and other royal insignia are kept, there is a book bound throughout in gold, even to the rings of the hinges. Its clasp is two rubies set at opposite ends of four golden links. On one side there is a cross of diamonds on the other the English coat of arms set in diamonds, pearls and rubies.

Artly Described.

"I have been covering her for two years," said the disseminator, "and I am certain that she will refuse me when I propose."
"Ah, that is interesting," said the amateur photographer, "a sort of undeveloped negative."

He Dropped It.

"You don't object to a contributor dropping into poetry once in a while, I presume?" said the editor, with an admirable smile.
"Certainly not, sir. Sit down," replied the editor, pushing the waste paper basket toward him.

His Recalls.

She—I am going to give you back our engagement ring. I can never marry you. I love another. She—Give me his name and address. She—Do you want to marry him? He—No. I want to try to sell him the ring.The usual fortune of complaint is to excite contempt more than pity.—Johnson.

RUSSIANS RETIRING ON THE RUN BEFORE THE JAPANESE.

Forts Dismantled and Artillery Packed at Newchwang.

Kuropatkin to Make a Stand at Harbin—Brigades Inset Liaoning Peninsula—Civilians Getting Out of Newchwang in a Hurry—Japs at Fengwangcheng, and a Report That They Have Captured Tellenwan (Daly)—Japs Sweep Onward.

Newchwang, May 9.—The survey indicates that the Russians have decided to evacuate Newchwang. Troops were leaving here all day yesterday. The Russian guns were dismantled, and all artillery have been placed in boats. All the local transportation has been commandeered by the Russian authorities.

There is current here a native rumor that Japanese troops are in Fengwangcheng, and about 20 miles north of Port Arthur, but this report lacks confirmation.

Will Fight the Russians.

The fear is held here that if the Japanese have and the Japanese do not at once take possession of Newchwang the brigades, who are now across the river, near Yinkow, will pillage the place. The foreign residents are prepared to resist the brigades should they come over. The British consul has requested that a gunboat be sent to Newchwang.

The Russian army will destroy the gunboat. Struth left before leaving. The vessel is at Newchwang.

The Japanese troops find an what probably was the last train out of Port Arthur. They took artillery and small arms and killed or wounded several Chinese.

Alas! Reported Wounded.

It is reported here that, Viktor Aleksei was slightly wounded prior to his departure from Port Arthur. He barely escaped from there before that their casualties were probably about 2,000.

Destroyed Railways and Telegraphs.

A detachment of the Japanese army operating on the Liaoning Peninsula, captured small bands of Russian troops on Friday and captured Pukien, a railroad station. The Japanese destroyed the railway and telegraph lines serving the Russian communication with Port Arthur.

The Japanese have based about 1,400 Russians and have 500 of the enemy's wounded in the local hospitals. It is estimated that the total Russian casualties exceed 2,500. Over 800 Russian prisoners are on route to Matsuyama, where they are expected to arrive on Wednesday.

St. Petersburg, May 9.—Gen. Kuropatkin has sent the following telegram, under date of May 7:

Gen. Kuropatkin, Zassailik today reports that the enemy's cavalry and units of their advance guard occupied Fengwangcheng today. Two companies and two squadrons of their force proceeded towards Pukien today. Our cavalry and units withdrew towards Salimatsina. A third column advancing by the valley of the Al river occupied Pukien today. The Japanese pointed batteries in fire since Pukien today.

Gen. Kuropatkin, advanced slowly and very cautiously upon Fengwangcheng.

PESTILENCE STALKS AROUND THROUGHOUT MANCHURIA.

Dysentery, Smallpox and Typhus Menace Russian Troops.

Urgent Call Issued For One Hundred Doctors—Evacuation of Newchwang by Russia Is Still Proceeding—Official Statement of the Jap Losses in the Battle of the Yalu—Alexieff at Harbin.

New York, May 10.—An urgent telegram has been received from Mukden, asking for the immediate dispatch of 100 doctors, says a dispatch from St. Petersburg. Typhus fever, dysentery and smallpox have assumed an epidemic character among the Russian troops.

Food For Three Months Only.

Shanghai, May 10.—A merchant here, who is in a position to have trustworthy information, has informed a correspondent of the Associated Press that at Port Arthur there is only food sufficient to last the warships for six weeks, and that the food supply there will last 8,000 men for three months only.

Evacuating Newchwang.

The Fox, May 10.—Passengers arriving here on the Paterick from Newchwang say that when they left Newchwang the Russian had commenced to evacuate. Some guns had been taken from the forts and many troops had already gone. In other respects Newchwang was quiet. The passengers understood before their departure that the Japanese had cut the railway, but they learned no particulars.

A Sighting.

Kharkov, Russia, Sunday, May 9.—The order for the substitution of the reserves, which is to take place tomorrow, has caused a sensation here.

Admitted 100,000.

S Seoul, May 10.—The Japanese Count at Seoul telegraphs that a force of Russian, number unknown, accompanied by Manchurian Mounted bands, crossed the Yalu for above Wiju, advanced southeast and occupied Changlin, 100 miles west of Soggin, May 5.

Ship Salvaged.

Washington, May 10.—The State Department has received a cablegram from United States Consul General Green at Vladivostok stating the British merchant ship Antelope had sailed from Vladivostok Saturday for a Japanese port with 223 Japanese soldiers, who had been picked up at Korsakov, on the island of Sakhalin.

At Harbin News.

St. Petersburg, May 10.—Viceroy Alexieff has telegraphed to the Kom-pore assuming the transfer of his headquarters at Harbin.

The Admiralty reports that Rear-Admiral Jellicoe's squadron is Vladivostok.

Kuropatkin Will Stay.

St. Petersburg, May 10.—It is officially announced that General Kuropatkin's headquarters will remain at Liangpiao. He has no intention, at least for the present, of retiring from his position there.

Estimated.

St. Petersburg, May 10.—It is unofficially stated that the Russian fleet at Port Arthur will be reinforced at the instance of General Kuropatkin and Japanese Admiral Maydell is absolutely satisfied.

London, May 10.—The Tokyo correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says that 25,000 Russian are retreating from Newchwang to Liaoning.

The correspondent also says that Chinese bandits have destroyed the railroads and to Hsicheng. The Russians are making a new road.

The correspondent adds that hand-its have attacked and cut other parts of the railroad, and pointed out that the capture of Hsicheng will enable the Japanese to cut off Port Arthur's direct supply.

Evacuation of Port Arthur.

Shanghai, May 10.—The evacuation of Newchwang continues. The Russian authorities have promised to leave a sufficient rear guard to prevent pillaging by the Chinese bandits, who are in the vicinity and awaiting an opportunity to get into the city.

Nothing further has been heard of the Japanese transports which were being recently near Hsicheng.

The Russians are concentrating on the west side of the Liao River, and the Chinese are indignant at this procedure. Eight hundred head of cattle have been taken at Yichow.

The Official News.

Tokyo, May 10.—The official report of the Japanese cavalry at the battle of the Yalu May 1, shows that the guards lost one officer and 100 men, the 1st division lost 10 officers and one hundred and twenty-five men.

The second division lost one officer and 100 men, the 2nd division lost 10 officers and one hundred and twenty-five men.

The 3rd division had three officers and one hundred and twenty-five men.

Daily Intelligence.

STRIKE-STRIKE!!

Clearly a newspaper is unfalsified without the eye falling upon the word "strike!!"

It is about time now in Montreal, one of the most important cities in Canada, that the employers, on account of wages, time, and so on, should be allowed to do as they please, and not be obliged to pay the services of policemen to protect other workmen in other branches of their business from being treated and ill-used in the performance of their duty.

In Toronto there is now a strike on the part of workers in the case of the city. No doubt our present friends will exclaim, "It was said all workmen in manufacturing concerns would strike and ruin on strike." It is the same for the strike, the work in which they were engaged that the business men of Canada have to consider.

It appears from the accounts given by the employers, that the strikers employed in the O'Brien and Blackhead breweries were ordered to strike by the "General Executive of the International Union of the United States" on account of the same considered "the most serious position" among those breweries.

"The General Executive of the International Union of the United States" has been ordered to strike by the "General Executive of the International Union of the United States" on account of the same considered "the most serious position" among those breweries.

And for this reason, the report says, "The General Executive of the International Union of the United States" has been ordered to strike by the "General Executive of the International Union of the United States" on account of the same considered "the most serious position" among those breweries.

The strikers will get strike pay while they are idle from the International Union. Montreal, Edward P. Ward, of Buffalo, will arrive in Toronto on the 10th May, and take charge of the strikers, who will meet in Montreal this morning.

Here we have a couple of United States men sent from Buffalo to take charge of the Canadian strikers. A pretty active affair, truly, that our industries in Canada are to be ruled by a combination of United States men, some of whom "walking boss" in the street and in the factory, until they died on account of their violence. These men should be regarded as men as they are, but the law is not sufficiently strong to withstand deposition it should be made to at least be enforced.

The employers' side of the question, in this "last year the brewery workers received increases in wages and a reduction of hours from 60 to 55. The increase in wages was 12 1/2 per cent, but the minimum wage was reduced from $5 to $4 per week before the increased percentage was added, which thus made the minimum wage $3.12 1/2 per week. The reduction of hours and the added wages, the brewery statement says, has made the lowest minimum wage 25 per cent, and in some cases it was over 50 per cent. The strike in other departments of the United States was much higher than is paid by the United States.

The men's demands are: "That some United men should be employed, no workmen to be employed on the recommendation of a customer, and that the United men should be given reasons to a grievance committee, who may look on arbitration as a strike, and who may call constitute the working hours during January, February, and March: time and a half for overtime, and increase in wages of 12 1/2 per cent, and the minimum wage in most of the places having first raised by 50 per cent."

At the end of March there were, including workmen, 100,000 men in the construction in Great Britain, as compared with 425 in a year ago. The same figures are given in 1903, 1904, 1905, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928, 1929, 1930, 1931, 1932, 1933, 1934, 1935, 1936, 1937, 1938, 1939, 1940, 1941, 1942, 1943, 1944, 1945, 1946, 1947, 1948, 1949, 1950, 1951, 1952, 1953, 1954, 1955, 1956, 1957, 1958, 1959, 1960, 1961, 1962, 1963, Sunshine Furnace

DOUBLE FEED-DOORS

Just about the meanest thing a furnace has here is a dirty little door. Ever have one? Hit the edge as often as the hole? One has to be an expert stoker to shove coal into some furnaces. If you're not an expert, you'll get as much on the floor as in the furnace.

The Sunshine Furnace is equipped with a good, big door. You can put your shovel in and drop the coal just where it is wanted—no trouble, no taking aim, no missing, no scattering, or annoyance.

Everything about the Sunshine furnace is on the same scale of thoughtfulness.

Sold by all enterprising dealers. Write for booklet.

Makes Out of Hamilton.

A Hamilton correspondent of the Toronto News says: The movement for the abolition of the historic barmal in England has caused the Industrial Committee of the National Union of Women Workers to urge the magistrature of the licensing sessions in London to consider the advisability of discontinuing the employment of women in public bars after five years, and that meanwhile no new employees should be engaged. The committee believe that the conditions of the work are not suitable for women and girls, and are incapable of any radical reform. It is quite customary for the hours to run from 12 1/2 to 1 1/2 hours a day, and Sunday, with the exception perhaps of once a month, usually entails a day of from seven to ten hours work. In England the only legal regulation affecting employment in public houses limits the hours of both sexes under eighteen years of age to seventy-four hours per week. Under the London Commty Council inspectors have practically stopped the employment of young persons in such places, a proof that the hours of work are beyond the limit. The number of women employed in serving intoxicating liquors in the United Kingdom runs into the thousands. In London alone, according to the 1901 census, there are 7,353 barmals, while the County of Lancaster has 5,747. The committee consider it essential that any action taken should be gradual, as those engaged in the work find difficulty in acting in other directions, and it would obviously be a hardship to turn them in and give them literally out of work without long notice.

The ruddy-gold barmal with a dainty display of dimpled arms is also hands a goblet of foaming ale across the shining counter, a not unknown to Hamilton. Some three or four years ago the Crystal Palace imported two from the Old Country. They were handsome girls, and their black and white costumes suited of dry milk and white cream.

to a money. Their appearance belied the boy "taught on" like a comic opera, and the hotel did a thriving business. One of the girls after a time left for other work, and the proprietor, to keep up the attraction, imported two more. He had now three behind the bar, and they made the corner business livelier than before. The first acquaintance of many visitors to the town was, "Let's go up and see the barmals." The proprietor, not to be confused, married one of them himself. After a time the barmal novelty began to slacken, but the hotel still did a big business, and the women also were doing something here yet but for the dejection of the city saloons. The girls were not only working for $2.50 or $3.00 a week, but were lodging out to the main bartender. The union, moreover, held that a barmal was against the sentiment of the country, and they started a boycott. Elements were posted up on the street and elsewhere denouncing the employment of the barmals, and notices were served on all the white houses of the city. It ended in the hotel letting the women go to save the business from ruin. The girls went finally to Windsor to work in some hotel, partly in the capacity of barmals and partly that of servants.

How "Abbie With Me" Was Written.
At the age of fifty-four I felt found myself doomed to die of consumption, and in sorrow at having to leave this world I published in print that at the least it might be granted to him to write something which would live to the glory of God when he was dead. Thus on the last evening of my brief life, after preaching his farewell sermon, he took pen and as the sun was setting over the ships that lay in the harbor "Abbie With Me" was written. Next morning he started for the Riviera and there died a month later—London Telegraph.

DETAILS OF DRESS.

Shirley Made as Tricorne—certainly clever. Made as Tricorne.

ply here at all. It demands a certain chic about the wearer, a certain distinction and presence in carriage. While skirts and waists are fussed up in this manner, but, on the other hand, a simple band of shirley frequently outlines a halo or a wide cape collar, a similar line appearing on the lower edge of the white shirley. Taffeta, ermine, satin, chiffon velvet and even chiffon and net—these are all used with good effect. Sometimes the piling is of velvet and the shirring of a contrasting material, preferably dull.

Underdresses composed of a multitude of fine ruffles of lace and set are very smart, and the effect is heightened if the bolero separates in front to show a blouse front composed of similar ruffles.

The long shirley is to be with us more than ever during the coming season, but the wide dressmaker will stick to the effect rather than to the real truth in the event itself, for this is very uncomfortable and rarely becoming.

The cut shows a new three-cornered hat—dark—tulle and known straw. It is trimmed with rosettes of velvet and brilliant buckle set in gilt.

THE NEW COSTUMES.

Spring Suits—Ladies XV. Costumes Almost Perfect Representations. The long straight skirt is to be worn with this suit. It is a jacket perfectly fitted in the back and skirt and over the chest, but falling in the front straight from the bust downward to about ten inches below the knee. The skirt of the coat forming the third tier. The hat worn with this sort of costume is a modified impero, the whole suggesting the hunting costume of the time of Louis XV. The reversible jacket is made more striking by the embroidered waistcoats and the reversible jacket and hat underneath will well over the head.

A costume of this sort worn recently was of Yvonne green velvet, with a waistcoat of pale robin's egg blue and

BOOKCASE CURTAIN.

A pretty and desirable one may be made of a piece of heavy cloth of any color, with trimmings of red. A brass rod was fastened to the top of the bookcase, and the drapery was thrown over it so as to form a deep lambrquin at the top. The bookcase was lined throughout with heavy red. Red felt was used for a border across the top and bottom. This rather simple method of the bookcase with red velvet in the center of its quilted hem attracted much attention, and was graduated toward each end, with a space of about an inch between each cover.

The border of felt across the lambrquin end of the curtain was about eight inches deep. Across the bottom of the curtain the border was a little deeper and was set up from the bottom, leaving about five inches of the bookcase below it.

It was an extremely effective curtain and was made very quickly and with little expense by a busy housekeeper.

The use of burlap is being revived for a number of purposes. It is often used as a substitute for wall paper, sometimes in the form of a deep fringe with the paper below or a figure burlap is used upon the walls, with plain burlap for fringe and a border of fringe. It comes in green, blue, red and white. In fact, pretty every color may be produced.—Laurel World.

DO THINGS EASILY.

Service to Eliminate the Heavy Strain From Housework.

"Do it down," said a wise mother of a family to the new and ambitious young housekeeper. "I do not in the least approve of what might be called lassitude or the habit of collapsing into a chair every time one turns around, but I do believe in saving one's strength when it is just as easy to do it. You are standing at the table to turn your potter when you might just as well sit down to do. By and by with the cleaning and brushing and scrubbing to do, when you must stand."

"If there is fruit to prepare, vegetables to get ready or any of the many things where one may remain quiet while doing them, it is much better to sit. This gives reserved energy for the harder part of the work, and while there is so much about housework that is necessarily taxing it seems to me to be a very wise thing to do this. I do not know why economy in strength is not just as important as economy in anything else, and I think it is worth a little study. People who are well and brothered in silver. A jabot of point de voile and ruffles of the same gave the required touch of aristocracy. The last was in dark, with a rosette embroidered in silver.

Pateenetic and break work, especially those showing in alloy bands, will be much used for necks, and there will also be a great demand for fringe in all its varieties.

Some notable changes are being effected in the realm of hair ornaments—cavaliers a favorite subject to be made. Wide hair bows have taken the place of the tiny upstanding ornaments which were once favorite a short time ago.

KIDNEY-WORRY

When the Kidneys fail to perform their functions perfectly you may know that the tension on the health cable is too great and its time to call a halt.

South American Kidney Cure cures the strain—prevents kidney worry—and will put them in "this" when they are tired. It is the only medicine known to cure kidney trouble. It is the only medicine known to cure kidney trouble. It is the only medicine known to cure kidney trouble.

THE MESSENGER FROM KHARTOUM

BY ST. GEORGE BATHURST
Author of "Dr. Jack," "Dr. Jack's Wife," "Miss Caprice," Etc., Etc.

"And a still more serious thing to be seriously considered, there. The colonel should have been to see that only gentlemen were invited, and not the alienated band who think the title of Baron can cover up any of the facts."

"The lieutenant glances rather nervously at around, being so afraid of the Baron's little correspondence, or there may be a double dose on the tape."

"Evidently, my friend, if you had been at the next table of a German restaurant, you would have been told, and this man would say exactly the same thing, for he, like he did against our stars and stripes, would have been your acrid" private Judd."

"The officer blinks his military manner. 'What then, my friend, you have me?'"

"Really, my dear fellow, you have me. There would be but one course for me to pursue, and that to see him after his death, as a brave man like my friend Joe has done."

"Exactly! I knew it! Then blame him no more, but rather honor his daring. When this war had given the least what then?"

"Every eye was turned on Myhrberg Joe, for we all understood what was said. I saw him sink his teeth back, but only a slight frown passed over his bronzed face. Leaving over the complaint, I said calmly: 'I return the compliment, my friend. That could never worry over the land that harbors a Siberia!'"

"Siberia? How does that come in? The whole class fell in the other's face. He spoke as if drunk, he emptied his glass glass full in the other's face. He is proud of his continent."

"He looks at the speaker, and does not see that Joe is impressed with the danger he has been in has been thus drawn by circumstances."

"I have great confidence in his activity, and his lucky star seems to be the accident," he remarks, at which the other looks in a low tone."

"Privately, however, my friend, I honestly hope he will die in the battle. He sides the regard we feel for him as a man from across the water and the man who averaged Gloom, you understand that we have no love for the Russian, whose mission to look we can see."

"Yes, and it's my private opinion that when he runs against Joe he'll wish he had taken time to have a session."

"It is a good thing to have a session."

After looking on for a minute Mr. Grimes became a night of rest. "If I do, I shall be able to see him on his own terms at the Russian. We'll have the maximum of the war. He'll never let me see a man with a sword, but never the less, I'll have. What does he say—that he finds himself very and stupid. He actually told me he can do in time, then? Now the poor professor. He actually told me the reverse doesn't pass out very well, even if I think I'll have to give a turn myself to make him feel free."

Thus the usually taciturn Mr. Grimes went on, while the other two looked on. The man who had been so badly hurt by the Russian officer's hand, for more showing refinement. "I feel as badly as if an old uncle had laid and left me his fortune. The Baron will need his money. It will be a real battle. No danger of our Joe getting into the frame, I said recommended words. The other way both may be killed here, friends are more possible. Grimes is a gentleman's weapon truly. Look at his hands, the professor's hand his utter by down—how does he throw down his fist and hold up his hand? Stupid, stupid."

"It is as Mr. Grimes has said, the Frenchman has been rather well with the sword, no longer see his own sword, and so naturally."

"The Frenchman does not have his little job. He is rusty this night. What of me?"

"The Frenchman's sword is the sword of a short time, anecdote Joe's sword is the sword of a long time. He is rusty in order. Then they must, after to his sword, which was white Myhrberg Joe's sword, some sword, although he knew how to handle a sword in a way few men can equal. Mr. Grimes does not change his mind. With the sword Joe is absolutely safe, and as much can never be said concerning the sword of the figure."

"He is pleased to note, however, the Frenchman is to be seen at the night and he said toward Myhrberg's sword. As to the great sword which he insisted and the clattering of many blades. It is about the same, day and night, even in those more quiet times, when the sword is not used, from midnight until morning, which is the case with the sword of the Frenchman, for his sword, having the sword, if he be so, and the sword is as the sword of the Frenchman."

ing in the public square and carrying on a pack of horses to look. As they enter the hall, a pair of eyes fasten upon them, and a man starts forward. Grimes, Joe recognizes a French officer. It is the same man who Mr. Grimes watched in conversation with the Baron the morning before. He holds something in his hand—a letter, held up by his appearance. "How do you do, my friend, Mr. Grimes, as he and Mr. Grimes purposely fall back on which was the French officer's hand."

The cautious French officer bows. "Hello! I am addressing Monsieur Myhrberg?"

"That is my name, sir," replied Joe. "I have something for you, monsieur." "Thank."

He tears it open, glances at it, mutters in a nervous way, and passes it to Mr. Grimes. "You are Captain Falotot, I perceive?"

"Oui, monsieur, at your service," pronounced Falotot. "My friend Colonel Grimes, he will second me. All arrangements will be made with him will stand. Good evening," and Myhrberg Joe was completely aware, followed by an all smiling glance from the Frenchman, who, under his breath, muttered:

"Excellent! A brave man, deserving of a better fate than a dog's death at his hands; but it is the driver of fortune" shuffling his shoulders.

"It is as Mr. Grimes has said, the Frenchman has been rather well with the sword, no longer see his own sword, and so naturally."

over him as a firm believer in the old maxim that he laughs indeed, who laughs last. So he bids the Frenchman bow and resumes his talk with Sandy, while Falotot stands out of the hall, looking back at the red-faced American, whose conversation he had so much enjoyed. He believes the other a brave acquaintance."

"How do you do, my friend, Mr. Grimes, as he and Mr. Grimes purposely fall back on which was the French officer's hand."

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, MAY 13, 1904.

NO. 12

MR. JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN MAKES A PREGNANT SPEECH.

Reminds Unionists That Day of the Empire Has Come.

Rising Colonies Will Not Forever Hang on the Skirts of Britain's Indecision—Must Have Federation of States or Sink
Into No Account in the History of the World—
Voice of the Colonies.

Birmingham, May 13.—At the annual meeting of the Unionists yesterday, Mr. Chamberlain professed his speech by a reminder that the day of the Empire had come. Let them hold the banner high and plenty would come to their standard. What higher ambition could they have than to sink into no account in the history of the world. Rising colonies would not hang forever on the skirts of Britain's indecision. The great colonies had decided with a unanimous voice that the question of union could best be approached from the commercial side. They had made concessions and were ready to make more. He would not call them sacrifices, because they were mutually beneficial in order to secure a self-sustaining Empire, interchange of products more freely and the strengthening by the way of the commercial side of the relationship.

He was at a loss to understand how the Duke of Devonshire and Lord Houghton could treat the offer of the colonies as not existing. They should be taken into account and their own interests be considered. He was at a loss to understand how the Duke of Devonshire and Lord Houghton could treat the offer of the colonies as not existing. They should be taken into account and their own interests be considered.

He was at a loss to understand how the Duke of Devonshire and Lord Houghton could treat the offer of the colonies as not existing. They should be taken into account and their own interests be considered.

He would give them nothing worth acceptance, and, on the other hand, demanded a sacrifice they could not afford to make. If any reasonable proof they could not afford to make, they would then give favorable consideration to their proposals for preferential mutual trade within the Empire. He was at a loss to understand how the Duke of Devonshire and Lord Houghton could treat the offer of the colonies as not existing. They should be taken into account and their own interests be considered.

He had received in recent months an invitation from the Government of Australia, and important representative organizations in Canada to visit them, but he had replied he would not do so. He was at a loss to understand how the Duke of Devonshire and Lord Houghton could treat the offer of the colonies as not existing. They should be taken into account and their own interests be considered.

He was at a loss to understand how the Duke of Devonshire and Lord Houghton could treat the offer of the colonies as not existing. They should be taken into account and their own interests be considered.

The colonies would not continue to present the policy of Montreal. A proper attitude would be one of goodwill. He was in full sympathy with the proposals for preferential trade with the colonies. He was at a loss to understand how the Duke of Devonshire and Lord Houghton could treat the offer of the colonies as not existing. They should be taken into account and their own interests be considered.

London, May 13.—(C.A.P.)—Sir Vincent Gifford, reading a paper on an Imperial conference and the cost of food, at the Comparative Club, declared that the whole supply of corn we need can be produced under competitive conditions within the Empire. The supplies of meat, and what in Canada were capable of great development, but Australia would ultimately take the place of Canada as a wheat producer. Refrigeration would wonder, and a preference would give her a decided superiority.

London, May 13.—(C.A.P.)—At a meeting of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Chamberlain read a letter asking the assistance of the Government in the removal of the restriction upon Canadian goods from the Manchester Chamber of Commerce to the Manchester Chamber of Commerce for consideration and report.

London, May 13.—(C.A.P.)—The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, under the name of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, is in the forefront of right thinking Canadians.

London, May 13.—James Hutchinson, a farmer of Winstanley Township, was arrested yesterday evening by shooting himself with a revolver. He was found lying along the road in company with a brother, who he pulled a revolver from his pocket and shot himself in the chest. He was about 40 years old, had been a soldier for some time.

SMART TOPPERS.

Probably you have stood on the breezy corner recently, and shivered while envying the man with a Top Coat.

Of course you don't want to wear a Winter Overcoat, but the season of chilly mornings and evenings is always here, and the comfortable man appreciates having his Spring Overcoat handy.

The Real Snappy "Topper"

The correctly dressed young men like, is quite "different" from the baggy affair of a season ago. Their quick eye will soon detect the "right" from the "wrong" kind. Covert Cloths and Venetians, "Cravenetted" too—won't wet through, if you get caught out in the rain. (Our prices won't empty your purse—$8, $10 to $12.)

Christie's Hats

Spring Alpine The Man and His Hat.

How often they disagree! Here comes a round-faced fat man with a small derby; here is a tall slender man with a thin face, and he is wearing a big cowboy hat! They don't go to the right store to buy hats—nor enough variety; can't find the hat to suit them, and rather than hunt around, take anything. You're bound to find the right hat here, because the variety is here—and fashion says. Wear the style that looks well. Bring your head here for satisfaction.

Quick & Robertson,

Belleville's Best Clothiers.

Children's Headwear.

We are showing some very pretty lines of Children's Embroidered Hats and Bonnets. Call and see them. We make a specialty of our Children's Crochet Silk Hoods.

Sunshine Furnace

Some Furnaces try to heat the whole big chimney by sending 90 per cent of the heat up the chimney. What you want is a Furnace that heats your whole house, and sends only the smoke up the chimney.

And this is just what the Sunshine Furnace does. It has more radiating surface than any other Furnace made, and all the heat is forced through the hot-air pipes—not into the smoke pipe and up the chimney.

The most economical, the greatest heat producer, the cleanest and simplest heater on the market. Sold by all enterprising dealers. Write for booklet.

The Politician

Think he dares a Politician cause a great man.

He is able to keep his body and legs straight in the best of conditions, the whole system straight.

He takes Abby's Salt and commends it to you.

Brain workers know the popularity of ill-health. Let the bowels become clogged—the liver sluggish—the stomach upset—the blood impure—and that "tired, overworked" feeling settles over the brain.

ABBEY'S SALT clears the brain by cleansing the system. It sets stomach, liver and bowels to do natural work in nature's own way. It is the ideal blood purifier—the perfect stomachic—the unfailing liver regulator.

Oxford Economy Gas Range

is built on an entirely new plan. It is designed to reduce the work of cooking to a minimum. The elevated oven does away with stooping, everything may be looked after, and all burners are visible and easily regulated from a standing position. The oven is a quick, even, economical baker.

The Oxford Economy Broiler is most conveniently located and heated with the regular oven burner.

All ranges are beautifully enamelled and nickelled, making them very easy to clean.

The Oxford Economy Range is a compact and skillfully planned that a small diner may be cooked on it without inconvenience.

See this range and one of our agencies or write us direct.

French Ships Seized and Sent to Bathurst of Andalus Coast

Cable dispatches recently informed that the British and French navies have come to terms over the French vessels which were seized off the coast of Newfoundland and that the three-armed dispatches were sent to the coast of Newfoundland and that the three-armed dispatches were sent to the coast of Newfoundland and that the three-armed dispatches were sent to the coast of Newfoundland.

What the French War. The British and French navies have come to terms over the French vessels which were seized off the coast of Newfoundland and that the three-armed dispatches were sent to the coast of Newfoundland and that the three-armed dispatches were sent to the coast of Newfoundland.

A mode vivendi was shortly afterwards agreed upon between the British and French governments. The British government agreed to release the French vessels and the French government agreed to release the British vessels.

The French just did not seem subject to a sweeping interpretation by France. It was supposed at the time that the British and French were not to be permitted to fish in the waters referred to in the treaty.

IN TYPHOID'S TRAIL.
Game Warden Rhenanum and his assistants have been hunting for the cause of the typhoid epidemic in the area.

Mr. W. W. Brown, of America, Ont., says that a few years ago he had typhoid fever and that he was cured by the use of a certain medicine.

MEN'S SUITS

The Newest of All.

The more exacting and particular a man may be about extravagance in fabric and pattern, even if he insists on all the advantages he expects from a tailor, than the more those new suits which we are showing for the first time will appeal to him.

He will find in them all the style and satisfaction he finds in garments that the best tailors could tailor to his measure, though they cost a little more than half the tailor's price and the same as he would pay elsewhere for ready-made clothes that would not prove as satisfactory.

Throughout these splendid garments the tailoring will be found to be faultless; the highest character known; and if anything a little more exacting and thorough than is found on the tailor's best productions. And of more importance than all, they possess that will breed air the tailor's have a knack of giving to the clothes they turn out.

Needless to say, the styles as they are found here are correct, that is expected, or that a perfect fit is assured in every case—we are more particular about that than you could be.

Fine Suits

The new single and double-breasted styles—of fine blue and black chevrons and serge, black unadorned Worsted, Fancy Imported Cambrines in the latest colorings and Overland Effects. Fancies that are exclusive with us and the tailors.

HOW BELLEVILLE PEOPLE CELEBRATED VICTORIA DAY.

The Gallant Fifteens at Kingston—Large Crowd at Madoc—Little Picton's Fine Races—A Quiet Day at Home.

So far as Belleville was concerned, it is a very quiet day. There was nothing to do here except to wait for the day to pass. There were no parties, no games, no nothing. The only thing that was done was to wait for the day to pass. The only thing that was done was to wait for the day to pass.

The day was a very quiet day. There was nothing to do here except to wait for the day to pass. The only thing that was done was to wait for the day to pass. The only thing that was done was to wait for the day to pass.

YOUTH AND AGE.
The Thoughts That Filled the Maiden and the Old Lady.
It was 9 o'clock in the evening, the night of the great dance in the assembly room.

She was almost ready. A few final touches, a little readjustment before the mirror, and then, beautiful and stately, she stepped out into the hall and slowly descended the stairs.

She was very young, but her calm, serious face, her ease and perfect poise and other certain little gestures of purely in herself, dedicated that she was not new at the business of the evening. Somehow there was a touch of sadness to her face.

As she went, the stairs were hurried in front of the library with her paper wrap over her arm. In the library, her face half shaded from the evening lamp, sat an old woman. Her

Her hair was smoothed back from the forehead that time had not spared from wrinkles.

She looked up from the book she was reading with a bright smile.

"Off again, my dear?" she said.

"Yes, grandma. It's another dance. I had to go. But it's so tiresome."

An examination by him, when

"My dear, you do not seem yourself tonight. Of what are you thinking?" Her granddaughter looked up.
 "Of the past," she said, with a sigh. And then she said as she rose and

MEN'S SUITS

The Newest of All.

The more exacting and particular a man may be about his wardrobe in fabric and pattern, even if he insists on all the advantages in a tailor, then the more these new suits which we are showing for the first time will appeal to him.

He will find in them all the style and satisfaction he would in garments that the best tailors could build to his measure, though they cost a little more than half the retail price and the same as he would pay elsewhere for ready-made clothes that would not prove as satisfactory.

Throughout these splendid garments the tailoring will be found to be faultless; it is of the highest character known and if anything a little more exacting and thorough than is found on the tailor's best productions. And of more importance than all, they possess that will breed air the tailor's have a knack of giving to the clothes they turn out.

Needless to say, the styles as they are found here are correct, that is, expected, or that a perfect fit is assured in every case—no more particular about that than you could be.

Toronto, May 28.—On Monday, at Montreal, Judge Winchester will commence his investigation into the charge that United States engineers are being employed on G.T.R. surveys in preference to Canadians. His Honor returned from Ottawa yesterday, where he had been to receive his warrant as a commissioner to call evidence and investigate the charge. Shipowners have been named for General Manager Charles M. Hays and William Walbridge of the railroad company. Judge Winchester has been given power to require into the question of alien labor employed by the company. From Montreal Judge Winchester will proceed to Winnipeg.

See Judge's Order.

Toronto, May 28.—Argument by U. S. Attorney, J. C. Shiloh, was heard yesterday before the court at Ottawa to remove the order granted by Judge Winchester in Montreal. The United States attorney is a petitioner in the Lib. and petition against Dunlop of South London. Judgment was reserved.

Argument to Hear.

Toronto, May 28.—Herbert Satchell, the young farmer accused of placing dynamite on the Metropolitan Railway tracks, has been sentenced to six months in the penitentiary.

JAPANESE HAD 2000 KILLED

AT STORMING OF KINCHOU.

Fighting Still Going on in the Vicinity of the Town.

Baron Hayashi Tells of the Significance This Japanese Victory—Kinchow Will Be Held as First Base, and the Neighboring Hills Will Be Made Impregnable—Possession of Kinchow Will Be Involved Against Port Arthur—Vivid Story of the Battle.

London, May 28.—A despatch to the Central News from Harbin says the Japanese losses during the fighting at Kinchow are said to be twelve thousand men killed. It is said that these figures have been confirmed by an official despatch. Fighting, it is added, is still going on in the vicinity of Kinchow.

The Russian Loss Heavier.

London, May 28.—The Tokio correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says he learns that the Japanese troops are now within 20 miles of Port Arthur, and that the Russians suffered heavier casualties than the Japanese, who have taken guns and material and a few prisoners. It is expected a further surprise, as Japan is now preparing for efforts in all directions. The Tokio correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says that the Japanese captured many guns at Kinchow.

Japs First Success in Road.

London, May 28.—The Tokio despatch to the Associated Press and Japanese official accounts are the only detailed descriptions that have yet reached London of the brilliant Japanese victory at Kinchow, which is hailed by the London press as establishing, even stronger claim than did the Japanese operations on the Yalu River to their superiority on land as well as by sea, since in the case of Kinchow the Russians had ample time to carefully prepare their positions.

It appears that at the conclusion the victory was immediately followed up. For the Morning Post's Tokio correspondent asserts that the Japanese have swept the Russians from their defense west of Tieliewan. And if the Daily Telegraph's report is correct, and the Japanese are nearing Port Arthur, the Russians must have suffered a complete reversal of fortune. That this is the case also would appear from rumors of the capture of the Russian artillery.

Reasons For the Reversal.

According to the Daily Mail's Tokio correspondent, the first Japanese division of victory, which is destined for the storming of Port Arthur, already has landed on the Lingding Peninsula.

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Japanese headquarters, communicating under date of May 28, says there is no change in the situation of the first army, but there are frequent outpost encounters.

"Moreover," he adds, "what the full is due for preparations of a surprise, in the direction of Lingding."

The Daily Mail's Shimonmaki correspondent, telegraphing under date of May 25, declares there are only 2,000 troops at Mukden.

Very Heated Last News.

Tokio, May 28.—The following report has been received from Vladivostok: The gendarme Tsukushi, Heino, Amagi and Choshi, and the first-ported boat, the Central, of the Vladivostok, reached Kinchow from the steamer of Vladivostok. From news of Thursday the steamer cooperated with the army in bombarding the Russian position at Kinchow. The Amagi and the Choshi went in to the morning and the enemy retreated from Kinchow, but they returned to the town from the hills behind Shushan. Our casualties were 15, including the Amagi and the Choshi, who was killed."

How the Russians React.

St. Petersburg, May 28.—The news of the Japanese victory at Kinchow was published on a Russian holiday, the anniversary of the formation of Emperor Nicholas. The news caused the celebration of Tsar's day to be shortened. Only a brief service was celebrated in the cathedral of the anniversary, and the Emperor was seen in the cathedral of the day in the transaction of business.

The Russian Reaction.

Tokio, May 28.—A Japanese officer of high rank made the following statement to the Associated Press: "The Japanese in attacking Kinchow and Nanchang Hill had to fight against great odds. The Russians were in full command of the strategic advantages afforded by the water, and these advantages were suggested by the Japanese. The Japanese were in full command of the water. The Japanese had only old guns, heavy guns were armed with heavy shells, the difficulties of transportation. Our army deserves great credit for having driven the Russians from this position, but it is a bit surprising to consider to have been impossible."

If our losses have been heavy.

London, May 28.—Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister, discussed the fighting north of Port Arthur, and the Japanese victory, will be the first battle. The neighborhood hills will be strongly fortified. The Japanese will be in full command of the water. The Japanese will be in full command of the water. The Japanese will be in full command of the water.
